

Harvard Annotated Bibliography Example

Kim, Anna. The study on religion ABC Preliminary course ed. California: AMA Firm, 2014. 1-234. Print.

Anna Kim is a seasoned teacher who has worked together with different schools, including government, catholic and independent institutions. The text is presented in order to support the available studies for the ABC students of religion 203.

Morson, James. Religion 203 Syllabus. California: XUZ Press, 2016.

This syllabus provides a detail of all subjects covered in the curriculum for Religion 203. It also highlights an open discussion wherein students are also given the chance to participate by inputting personal studies regarding the topics which have been covered in the subject.

Navelo, Gale. (1992). An effective study on world religions. London: Oxford.

This book serves as the reference used by the faculty at Harvard mirroring the study of world religions from the point of view of a University in Europe.