

Type of Plagiarism Examples

Direct Plagiarism

Writer A: Long ago, when there was no written history, these islands were the home of millions of happy birds; the resort of a hundred times more millions of fishes, sea lions, and other creatures. Here lived innumerable creatures predestined from the creation of the world to lay up a store of wealth for the British farmer, and a store of quite another sort for an immaculate Republican government.	Source: "In ages which have no record these islands were the home of millions of happy birds, the resort of a hundred times more millions of fishes, of sea lions, and other creatures whose names are not so common; the marine residence, in fact, of innumerable creatures predestined from the creation of the world to lay up a store of wealth for the British farmer, and a store of quite another sort for an immaculate Republican government."
--	---

Borrowed Plagiarism

Text From a Friend's Paper: The legal system is made up of civil courts, criminal courts and specialty courts, such as family law courts and bankruptcy courts. Each court has its own jurisdiction, which refers to the cases that the court is allowed to hear. In some instances, a case can only be heard in one type of court. For example, a bankruptcy case must be heard in a bankruptcy court. In other instances, more than one court could potentially have jurisdiction. For example, a federal criminal court and a state criminal court would each have jurisdiction over a crime that is a federal drug offense but that is also a state offense.	Emily Altered Text Submitted as Original: The legal system is made up of criminal and civil courts and specialty courts like bankruptcy and family law courts. Each court is vested with its own jurisdiction. Jurisdiction refers to the types of cases the court is permitted to rule on. Sometimes, only one type of court can hear a particular case. For instance, bankruptcy cases can be ruled on only in bankruptcy court. In other situations, it is possible for more than one court to have jurisdiction. For instance, both a state and federal criminal court could have authority over a criminal case that is also considered an offense under federal and state drug laws.
---	---

Self-Plagiarism

Original Work by the Student: The process of searching for a job can be very stressful, but it doesn't have to be. Start with a well-written resume that has appropriate keywords for your occupation. Next, conduct a targeted job search for positions that meet your needs.	Self-Plagiarized Text: Looking for a job can be very stressful, but it doesn't have to be. Begin by writing a good resume with appropriate keywords for your occupation. Second, target your job search for positions that match your needs.
---	---