

Persuasive Essay Outline

1. Introduction

It basically consists of two components:

- The opening statement
- The thesis/the idea of the essay

The introduction is aimed to get the full attention of the reader. The opening statement needs to be clear and logical as it is the thought, which leads the reader to the thesis where the persuasive essay idea is thoroughly presented.

2. Body paragraphs

The body of any persuasive essay reveals the arguments that support the thesis statement of the work. Each of the three arguments should include:

- the point of argument
- the explanation of the argument
- facts/evidence that support the idea/thesis
- a small summary leading to the next argument

3. Conclusion

Summarizes the persuasive essay idea. It is the evaluation of the statements made and the arguments given. The conclusion therefore refers to the thesis statement of the work.
